

Career Change Management

Thinking about changing careers?
Need guidance in choosing a positive career direction?

Job seekers will participate in a seminar related to the importance of matching the individual's vocational interests with career and/or occupational interests and other career development issues. A demonstration of how to access "online" resources is provided.

Career Change Management may be helpful for those who:

- . . . plan to pursue training or education and want to be sure they are making good career choices.
- . . . have been working in an occupation where the demand for their kind of job is "shrinking", and need to do something different.
- . . . do not like the usual type of work they have been doing, and want to change to something else.
- . . . have limited or no work experience and want to explore what kinds of jobs or careers would be right for them.
